

It's like you can't remember what you had for breakfast, lunch, or dinner, yet they've grown into a part of you.